Radiator Diversion Panel

NRG Innovations has developed a new line of Radiator Diversion Panels. These units maximize the cooling capabilities of the radiator. Rather than letting air escape through structural gaps on the vehicle, it is redirected to the radiator. By increasing the amount of air flow passing through the radiator, the efficiency of the radiator is improved. Coolant temperatures are kept consistent under all driving and track conditions.

Strut Tower Bars Strut Cross Brace

TRA-001

This unit was specifically designed for the $2000 enthusiast who wants to maximize their vehicle's potential. Unlike most braces for the $2000 which do not consider the rear set engine mount in the engine bay, this unit effectively distributes cornering forces throughout the chasis and the cross membrane. This is a must have for any $2000 owner who wants the best in steering responsiveness and handling.

Triangle Strut Bars

With the triangulation and expansion of force on high stress points of the vehicle (namely the strut towers), these units dramatically reduce frontal load body flexing and improve overall handling and braking abilities. These units join three rigid points of the chassis (strut towers and firewall) to improve handling.

Strut Tower Braces

This product stiffens up the chassis by connecting the two most rigid parts of a vehicle's chassis (the strut towers). By linking these two parts on opposing sides as one, forces on the body can be effectively subdued. This results in significantly less roll and twist under hard cornering situation while increasing driver feedback, steering feel and providing more responsive cornering.

TNB-415
06+ Honda Civic Coupe

Tri-point Bar Attachment

The triangulation and expansion of force in high stress points of the vehicle will reduce frontal load body flexing and improve overall handling and braking abilities. These braces can be used in conjunction with many types of strut tower braces.

Traction Control Bars

The addition of traction control bars increase vehicle stability and help eliminate wheel hop and improve traction. Tested to exceed the force of over 350hp, these bars are sure to make a difference on the street and or the drag strip

2 Point Lower Chassis Brace

This product stiffens up the chassis by linking the tension arms or toe adjuster brackets of opposing sides. This decreases the stress to the chassis and its flex points under hard cornering, reducing overall body roll and increase steering response, feel and driver feedback.

LBR-502 80-86 Toyota Corolla

TRB-001

LBR-602 92-95 Honda Civic

4 Point Lower Chassis Brace

This product further increases the rigidity of the chassis beyond the capabilities of the 2 point system by further widening the load transfer area by including the opposing sides of the chassis itself thus increasing performance gains to another level.

AC Voltage Stabilizer

The EPAC System by NRG stabilizes power output to all of the electrical components that draw the power from the battery by simply connecting to the battery terminals. The unit boosts battery power when under high load, thus regulating fluctuations coming from the battery that can result in loss of power or responsiveness from ignition system components. It also improves the performance of stereo equipment as well as interior lighting.

Wire System

The Ground Wire Systems centralize the grounding point of the electrical mechanisms on the vehicle. By installing onto the battery's negative terminal or chassis for proper grounding. Ground Wire Systems cause less fluctuation on the electrical system, improves overall performance and responsiveness of the engine end electrical components. These are must-have for any vehicle with engine swap since proper grounding tends to be an issue associated with that type of performance modification. It Features a copper center hub and high quality 12 gauge low resistance wires available in red or blue.

Oil Catch Tank

Installed by connecting the PCV Valve or pressure release hose to the intake pipe, this unit captures and stores excess oil coming from the valve cover. The results in clean air recirculation into the factory system which puts the release tube directly back into the engine. The engine result is decreased valve cover pressure, prolonged engine life and increased performance. This is also a must in any competition car due to regulations concerning oil on the track. It features a stainless steel construction with an indicator hose vacuum pressure sensor adapter, mounting hardware and hoses. Available in white, black, chrome and gold.

Power Steering Tank

The Power Steering Tank is made from lightweight aluminum. It improves power steering performance feedback and reduces reservoir bubbles resulting in less oxidation from fluid and water build up. It provides consistent power steering fluid pressure. Installation hardware included.

Mufflers Performance Exhaust System

NRG Innovations Performance Exhaust System Mufflers are engineered as an acoustic soundproofing device designed to reduce the loudness of the sound pressure created by the engine by way of Acoustic quieting. The majority of the sound pressure produced by the engine is emanated out of the vehicle using the same piping used by the silent exhaust gases absorbed by a series of passages and chambers lined with roving fiberglass insulation and resonating chambers harmonically tuned to cause destructive interference wherein opposite sound waves cancel each other out. Made from the highest quality materials to withstand the tortures of everyday use.
